Dear Barry,

Gary was here for a few days over the holidays. He told me you have gotten the material I have asked you to get from the publishers about Youngblood. In this event, I need it urgently, for I'll have to do what I must with it before leaving for New Orleans and the trial, which may be soon. So, will you please send it to me as soon as you can?

Right now, for the kind of reason one can never anticipate, that particular angle may be more important than it was when I asked this of you.

If Gary's information is wrong, would you please let me know promptly?

Have you decided whether to undertake any research projects at the Archives? If you have, please let me know.

Hope you had a nice holiday and that yourxassignment is congenial. Have a good year!

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
